A SCHOLARSHIP FOR WOMEN IN MEDICINE
Given by the Late Mr. Wm. Gibson

The following has been received from the Royal Society of Medicine and should prove of interest to the women students in the Faculty of Medicine.

29th January, 1923.

Dear Sir,

With this I enclose copy of our announcement with regard to the Gibson Scholarship, which will be awarded in June next, and as the lady who founded the Scholarship is particularly interested in the Dominions, and hopes that candidates from the Dominions will be attracted, we should be greatly obliged if you could let this notice be announced in your official publications, and in any way that seems most likely to be useful.

Faithfully yours,
J. Y. W. MacALISTER,
Secretary.

The Registrar,

THE WILLIAM GIBSON RESEARCH SCHOLARSHIP FOR MEDICAL WOMEN.

Miss Maud Margaret Gibson has placed in the hands of the Royal Society of Medicine a sum of money sufficient to provide a Scholarship of the yearly value of £250, in memory of her father, the late Mr. William Gibson, of Melbourne, Australia. The Scholarship is awarded from time to time by the Society to qualified medical women who are subjects of the British Empire; and is tenable for a period of two years. The next award will be made in June 1923. In choosing a Scholar, the Society will be guided in its choice "either by research work already done by her, or by research work which she contemplated. The Scholar shall be free to travel at her own will for the purpose of the research she has undertaken."

There is no competitive examination, nor need a thesis or other work for publication or otherwise be submitted. The Society has power at any time to terminate the Grant if it has reason to be dissatisfied with the work or conduct of the Scholar.

Applications should be accompanied by a statement of professional training, degrees or diploma, and of appointments, together with a schedule of the proposed research. Applications must be accompanied by testimonials one as to academic or professional status, and one as to general character. Envelopes containing applications, etc., should be marked on top left-hand corner "William Gibson Research Scholarship" and should be addressed to Sir John Y. W. MacAlister, Secretary, Royal Society of Medicine, 1, Wimpole Street, W. 1, and be received not later than Friday, June 1st 1923.

WRONG VIEWPOINT.

A lady went into a photographer's to have her picture taken. While the photographer was adjusting the camera, she wrapped a clothesline around her skirts. You'll have to take that off, madam, said the photographer.

You can't fool me that way, young man, she said, I know you see me upside down in that camera.

NOTED AUTHOR WILL SPEAK HERE TONIGHT

Sir Henry Newbolt Will Address Audience at High School

WELL KNOWN POET

"Literature and Life" Subject of Sir Henry's Discussion To-night

Sir Henry Newbolt, M.A., Hon. D. (Gow), famous author and educationalist, arrived in this city yesterday noon and will deliver his first public address this evening in the Montreal High School. Sir Henry shortly after his arrival attended, in company with the Principal, Sir Arthur Currie the luncheon which was tendered to Dr. Herbert Gray and before his departure McGill students will be given at least two opportunities to listen to this noted visitor.

"Literature and Life" will be the subject of to-night's address, which will be given at a quarter past eight in the Assembly Hall of the University Street School. This lecture is part of the University extension series, and as it is open to the general public, it is expected that a large number will be present, including many students from this and other local educational institutions. No admission will be charged.

Sir Henry will also speak to McGill students in the Royal Victoria College tomorrow afternoon at five o'clock and on this occasion will take as his subject "Poetry and Patriotism."

Both of these lectures are attracting a great deal of attention among students at McGill, for it is a well known fact that the works of this author have attained a national and even world-wide reputation. Sir Henry, above all things, does not believe in divorcing literature from national and individual life and this is clearly demonstrated in all his works. Judging by the topics on which he has chosen to talk it is also quite evident that this noted visitor will further expound the vital connection between literature and life and without doubt the subject will be dealt with in a capable and masterly manner.

To any, who are even slightly familiar with English literature of the past quarter of a century, the name of Sir Henry Newbolt must of a necessity be a familiar one, for his fame has spread as a result of the publication of such works as "Admirals' All," "The Island Race" and numerous others. Many of Sir Henry's poems are essentially nationalistic, aiding in the immortalization of great historical names and events. The twang of the restless sea, which roars against the coast of Devon, is found in various poems and further lustre is added to such a name as Drake's by lines like:

"If the Dons sight Devon, I'll quit the port of Heaven
An' drum them up the Channel as we drummed them long ago."
The value of the individual is not forgotten and is forcibly emphasized in many of the author's poems. Poems, such as "Vital Lampada", much better known as "Play the Game", have passed on into the enviable realm of international reputation and "Play up! Play up! and Play the Game!" is a line, for instance, which has passed into veritable slogan, even though the name of the writer may sometimes be forgotten.

Bearing these facts in mind it is easily seen that Sir Henry Newbolt's visit is an important one and, as such, it will undoubtedly receive the wide support of the student body.

PROF. LEACOCK HAS NEW BOOK

"College Days" to be Published Shortly

Students of McGill will be interested to learn that Professor Stephen Leacock is publishing very shortly a new book entitled "College Days". This addition to his well-known works, humorous and economic, will be printed in England, and is expected to be procurable in Canada in about two months' time. "College Days" will comprise a number of articles on university life which Dr. Leacock has written from time to time in the Harvard Advocate, Princeton Tiger, McGill Daily, The Varsity, and other college journals. The author's contribution to Volume XXVI of the McGill Annual to be issued next month, "The Old College and the New University", will also be included.

McGILL DEFEATS TROJANS, 39-20.

(Special to McGill Daily.)

St. John, N.B., Feb. 12. — The McGill basketball team vanquished the Trojan quintet of St. John, this evening, sending the home team down to a 39-20 defeat. The game was one of the attractions of the Winter Carnival being held here, and was witnessed by a capacity crowd, the house having been sold out several days in advance of the contest.

POLITICAL PARTIES ARE DISCUSSED

Heron and Moore Addressed Political Economy Club

KEEN INTEREST

Development of Party System Traced Through History

A paper on the history of the political parties of some of the more important countries and one on the merits of the two-party system form of government and that of the multiplicity party system were read at a meeting of the Political Economy Club which was held last night.

Moore, who spoke on the history of the parties, said that political parties in the modern meaning of the term were of recent origin. In England, they first came into existence in the reign of Queen Elizabeth. Then, we note, the great embitterment between the political parties, who became known as Whigs and Tories. The Tories, believing in the established order of things. We find that in 1781 the Whigs were divided into many classes, such as moderates, extremes and so forth. As a result of the French Revolution, the Whig party became disrupted. The Tories as a result were in power until 1827. Then in 1846, with the passing of the Corn Laws disruption of parties again took place.

In 1866 Gladstone came into power as leader of the Liberals. The year 1871 saw the commencement of the Home Rule agitation; the Irish members forming themselves into a compact body. There now appeared upon the scene Liberals, Conservatives and Home Rulers.

With the defeat of Disraeli in 1880 Gladstone once more came back into power. With the resignation of Gladstone in 1895, Lord Salisbury came into power with a Unionist majority.

The first we hear of the political party was in 1872. In 1906 they formed themselves on a socialistic basis.

E. T. CLUB WILL HOLD DANCE SOON

Ginn, Gibson and Caswell on Arrangement Committee

An enthusiastic meeting of the Eastern Townships Club was held yesterday afternoon in the Union. It had been said that plans for another dance were to come before the Club, and members who had enjoyed the last event of this nature were out to support the idea.

The President, Henry Cousins, occupied the chair and conducted the meeting in his usual inimitable manner, and with a consistent flow of humour. After the preliminaries, the matter of a dance was brought forward and was met with enthusiasm by all present. Following a brief discussion the resolution to hold the dance was passed unanimously.

The committee appointed to arrange the details of the dance are Ginn, Gibson and Caswell, and the date will be announced within a day or two. If enthusiasm of members present at the meeting is any criterion, the success of the dance is assured. It will be remembered that the last Eastern Townships dance, held in November, was considered the best event held by the Club since the war. The committee hope to make the coming event an even greater success. Owing to a resolution that the number of tickets be strictly limited, men wishing to make sure of being present should get in touch with the above mentioned committee as soon as possible.

To-morrow, being Ash Wednesday, is a University holiday. The McGill Daily, however, will be published as usual.

"KINGDOM OF GOD" THEME OF DR. GRAY

Fundamentals of Christianity Explained by Speaker

INSPIRING TALK

Truth and Universal Brotherhood Essential to Man's Well-being

Before a small though highly interested and appreciative audience, Dr. Herbert Gray spoke in the Union yesterday afternoon on the "Kingdom of God". Dr. Gray pointed out that this was not a separate address, but merely a continuation of what he had started to explain in his previous talks.

No one said the speaker, can understand Christianity unless he fully understand the meaning of the term "Kingdom of God". A religious questionaire was recently sent out in England, and in reply to the question "What do you understand by the Kingdom of God?" hardly an answer was given.

The coming of the Kingdom of God means the coming of a new social order. Christ, speaking at a time of great depression instilled hope in the hearts of the people by mention of the coming of the Kingdom of God. Christ's message of hope was a message to the whole human race. It appeals not only to the personal side but also to that side of man that strives to achieve noble ideals.

Not very long ago it was commonly believed that truth was not necessary in international matters, and that it was not even necessary for a plenipotentiary to keep his word. It was the duty of an ambassador to push the interests of his own country no matter what the cost. This is a direct denial of the fundamentals of the Kingdom of God. The result of this action was inevitably war. The late European war was not caused by one man but by the way the peoples of Europe were living. There was no common loyalty in Europe, there was no Power whose will was regarded as August. There will never be an end of quarrelling unless some common root of loyalty is found.

Jesus did not know the "multitude" but the individual, for each of whom he had the greatest respect. Christ inaugurated "the Age of the Child." His influence on this age may well be measured by the great amount of time that is devoted to the child at the present time. In Christ's time, woman was considered man's inferior, but one of the great works of Jesus was the equalization of the sexes. It was Jesus who brought to the attention of the world that every one is a son or a daughter of God.

The modern industrial system will not stand the test of the Kingdom of God in that it uses destroys many lives for the convenience of others, and therefore this system is fundamentally wrong.

The most fatal things in the modern world are antagonisms, these are most prevalent in the shape of racial, international, class and sectarian prejudices.

MOCK PARLIAMENT MEETS THURSDAY

Last Session for the Year Will be Held

This Thursday night will see the last session of the Mock Parliament, which will be held in the Union. The resignation of the Premier, the Right Hon. V. Barre, has been officially announced, and also that R. K. Jones is to lead the Coalition. In spite of Jones' mature age, he ought to prove to be a successful Premier.

The Chief Constitutional Whip, the Hon. M. Graham, recently gave out a statement in which he said: "The Constitutionalists and Progressives are in complete union. The former are fully determined to loyally and enthusiastically support the Premier, who's our choice, against our common enemy, the high tones, whose reactionary tendencies are potentially a dangerous menace to the liberty of the students."

As to his former chief, Gaboury said: "Barre is setting out for Loveland on a honeymoon, where no doubt, he will learn how to become a hen-pecked husband."

The new Prime Minister, R. J. Jones, announced his Cabinet in the few hours of this morning after hours of concentrated thought. The selection will no doubt satisfy the demands of the electorate.

The Parliament will be prorogued by General Sir Arthur Currie in his official capacity as Governor General.

OTTAWA VALLEY GRADS. AT UNIVERSITY BALL

The Ottawa Valley Graduate Society of McGill University took a very active part in a University Ball held at the Century Rose Room, Ottawa, on the evening of Feb. 5th, under the distinguished patronage of His Excellency, the Governor General and Lady Lyng of Vimy. The ball was a great success. It more than attained its object in bringing together the graduates of the various Universities represented in Ottawa in a social way. The ball room was very gaily decorated with the colours of the more prominent Universities. The banner, which is continually in the possession of our energetic Executive Secretary, Mr. Jenkins, was kindly loaned to us for the occasion. Miss Marjorie Small, daughter of Dr. H. B. Small, President of our Society, acted as hostess in a most acceptable manner. About 300 were present.

Among those present were:—Mr. H. A. Aylen, Dr. and Mrs. J. T. Basken, Mr. and Mrs. Robert C. Perry, Mr. and Mrs. R. de B. Corvay, Mr. A. S. Cram, Dr. and Mrs. W. E. Cockfield, Mr. H. R. Cram, Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Daubney, Dr. and Mrs. H. R. Ellis, Dr. and Mrs. C. M. Geldert, Mr. John Goddard, Mr. R. W. Guy, Mr. and Mrs. R. A. C. Henry, Dr. Frank E. Jones, Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Jost, Mr. Wilfred Jaisly, Mr. Yves Lamontagne, Mr. and Mrs. D. W. McLachlan, Mr. and Mrs. J. B. McRae, Mr. and Mrs. John W. Menzies, Mr. G. M. Pitts, Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Robert, Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Routhier, Dr. H. L. Sims, Dr. H. B. Small, Miss Marjorie Small, Mr. Richard Small, Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Ogilvie, Dr. and Mrs. J. H. Alford, Dr. and Mrs. Wm. Hutchinson, Mr. and Mrs. J. L. MONTREAL, TUESDAY, FEBRUARY 13, 1923.

THE STUDENT AND THE SPEAKER.

It is probable that few realize, although the majority avail themselves of, the opportunities that are extended to the man about college through the agency of the various clubs—of which the Canadian Club is a typical and outstanding example—which are organized for and by undergraduates of the University. The present year at McGill has been noteworthy for the number of distinguished visitors to Montreal that have privileged the University with an appearance in our midst. That the Student Body has not been blind to its advantages in this direction has been demonstrated, we are confident, by the representative nature of the audiences which have greeted, practically without exception, any such speaker when he has arisen to address the McGill Student Body.

The heads of the organizations which have sponsored such gatherings are particularly fortunate in being placed thus in a position to meet, under propitious circumstances, many of the leaders of the country, and many of distinction from foreign parts. That their experience will stand them in good stead when they depart from McGill goes beyond question. McGill, in no less degree, has been fortunate in being by this means able to entertain characters of note, and to afford these men some insight into the manner in which the University conducts its affairs, as well as to acquaint the more public-spirited among them with a few of the handicaps under which we are forced to labor.

The college man's greatest privilege is to listen, so that in after years he may be able to speak. At McGill he is given every reasonable occasion for forwarding his interest in this respect, both in lectures, where he may share in the discussions of professors known the country over, and through different undergraduate clubs where he is brought into touch with statesmen, scholars and other notables.

EDITORIAL NOTE.

The arrival of Sir Henry Newbolt, coincident with the presence at McGill of Dr. Herbert Gray, has placed the University in a most happy situation. These men, one an author and educationalist, the other a leader in the student movement of the Old Country, both of international distinction, will address the Student Body of the University to-day at times and places to be found in the news columns of the present issue of the "Daily." When a like chance of hearing these two men will again be proffered to the McGill undergraduate, is problematical. In point of respect to the speaker, of obligation to those who asked them here, and of prospect of self-advancement, the student who can possibly spare the time should be on hand at these meetings to-day.

THE THEATRE

THE IMPERIAL.

If an audience's applause be any criterion, then we must judge this week's show at the Imperial as good. The management succeeded in giving to its audience a bill, which, if not outstanding, was at any rate varied and well received. Frank Wilson opened the performance with some good acrobatic stunts on his bicycle. He did not utter a single syllable during his turn, but this rather added to the value of his work as it enabled the audience to vote their whole attention to well executed tricks of Mr. Wilson.

The peculiar face of Page and the rather tasteful dresses of Miss Gray seemed to find great favour with the audience. It was not so much what Page said, but the way he said it that brought from the audience bursts of spontaneous laughter.

The Gerald's showed that they could play several musical instruments with slightly more than ordinary skill. The best part of their turn was the duet played simultaneously on several guitars.

Florence Brady rendered several vocal selections in a voice that the vaudeville goer has long since accustomed his ears to hearing. "Bill McClusky," the song of a man who found great difficulty in getting along on account of his stuttering was the pick of Miss Brady's repertoire.

McCarthy and Sternhard presented an old problem in somewhat novel way. We are first introduced to the two main characters of this sketch when they are eloping and are ridiculed by a passing policeman who has stopped them to ask their business. The next scene, one year later in a hotel, sees the pair quarrelling in the regularly accepted fashion. The last scene, the Divorce Court is more amusing than real. The judge hears the "case" amid numerous interruptions by both litigants. When he has all but rendered his decision the two decide that they were made for each other and leave the court reunited and happy.

FEW INFORMAL DANCE TICKETS TO BE SOLD

Preparations for the Informal Dance which takes place on Friday night, are well under way, and rumors have reached the Daily office that an entirely new band of "Jazz" interpreters are being engaged for the evening. After much deliberation on the part of the Union House Committee, it was decided to go abroad for the musicians, and, by a stroke of sheer luck, they have been able to engage the Czar's Own Serenaders, late of Moscow, Russia. These gifted entertainers are coming to Montreal on a prolonged tour, and after Friday night, will be employed at Canada's newest Hostelry, where they will cater to Montreal's dancing desires. Any student who appreciates dancing to really wonderful syncopation, cannot afford to pass up this opportunity. The House Committee feel that they have overstepped their authority in endeavouring to dictate in such a delicate matter as the regulation of the dress of the fair sex on such an occasion, therefore it takes this opportunity of placing itself on record as being in no way responsible for the costumes which shall be worn at this function.

A few tickets are still available at the Porters' desk, but by noon to-day it is expected that the S. R. O. sign will be hung out.

K. M.-ir (full of news)—There's something going around that will interest you!
 She—Well, be careful, there are some pins in my waist.

In a Trip to Hilland, we are introduced to the authors of several of the latest popular songs. These gentlemen render their production in an effectual way and then, in order to show the audience just how a song is made, compose one right on the spot.

Woman Wake Up was an interesting picture, while Fox News rounded out a fair two hours entertainment.—T.H.H.

CORRESPONDENCE

The Daily is not responsible for the sentiments of letters published in the correspondence columns. Signed communications from graduates undergraduates and members of the faculties will be placed in print if they are not of too great length.

Correspondents are requested to observe the unwritten law of the newspaper office—that they write upon ONE SIDE OF THE PAPER ONLY.

The Editor,
 McGill Daily:—

Sir:—May I encroach once more upon the space of your valuable correspondence column with a view to refuting Mr. T. M. du B. Godet's rather virulent and scathing criticism of myself and my recent actions.

First of all, my letter did not state or even imply that I preferred the Mock Parliament to the C.O.T.C. inspection, it merely suggested that Headquarters might have chosen a date other than the one long since selected by those in charge of the Parliament.

Mr. T. M. du B. Godet goes on to say that I should not have voiced my grievance before the whole student body but to the O.C. through the medium of the Orderly Room. Now it seems to me that this grievance is not one of interest merely to a member of the C.O.T.C. or a person who is a "budding politician" and therefore likes to take in such things as a session of the Mock Parliament, but also to the student body in general, inasmuch as it involves another instance of what has been of only too recent occurrence at the University lately, namely, a conflict of the dates of events of importance. The Schedule Committee was formed with a view to eliminating this; one of the first steps the committee took was to ask for a list of proposed events the second thing it did was to mention that those institutions who failed to send in such a list would be refused space in "Daily". Under these circumstances, I fail to see just how request could be termed impertinent, it was merely a suggestion that the Committee bring into force a law which they had passed.

The inspection was originally set for Wed. Feb. 7 and was postponed, I presume on account of the McGill-U. of M. hockey match which was also scheduled for that night. In changing date of this inspection to the night of the Mock Parliament, the Headquarters have jumped out of the frying pan and into the fire.

Thanking you again for your kindness in allowing me the use of your columns, I subscribe myself once more,
 A POOR PRIVATE.

The Editor,
 McGill Daily:—

Dear Sir:—I read with grave misgivings that the feelings of "Sans Souci" were located in his chest, but trust that by this time he has either burst or that they have assumed a more natural position.

In his delightfully explicit manner he informs us that some prominent author,

MED. '28 BASKETBALL.

There will be an important practice for the basketball team at 6 p.m. sharp to-day. The attendance of every regular and substitute is compulsory. All up, Med. '28.

MARITIMERS.

To-night's the night of your skating party at the Coliseum, so don't forget to be on hand at 8 o'clock and join the crowd. Skate till 10 o'clock, and then proceed to the Edinburgh, where there will be cats and dancing reserved for you.

WESTERNERS!

The Western Club will hold an informal dinner at the Union on Thursday, the 15th at 6.30 p.m. Every McGill man from the four Western Provinces is invited to take this opportunity of joining with fellow Westerners to greet Sir Arthur Currie, the Hon. President, and Professor Whitnall, who has recently returned from a trip to the Coast.

ATTENTION, THEOLOGS.

Lectures are suspended at 12 o'clock to-day to give men of all colleges an opportunity of hearing Dr. Herbert Gray, in a special address to theological students, in Class Room No. 1, of Divinity Hall.

NOTICE.

There will be a meeting of the Historical Club in Strathcona Hall on Wednesday evening, Feb. 14. Subject: "The League of Nations and Its Working," by Ginn and Lafleur.

DR. HERBERT GRAY.

The noted student leader of the British Student Movement, and author of "As Tommy Sees Us," and "The Christian Adventure," will continue his series of addresses to McGill students in the Union to-day and to-morrow.

To-night, at five o'clock, his subject will be "The Kingdom of God." At eight o'clock he will speak on the "Relationships of Men and Women."

in an address to some students in some American college and reported in some American newspaper, had expressed disapproval of dilettantes. I hope those terrible offenders of the McGill Daily will be duly impressed, or even overwhelmed. I am ashamed to admit that I used to think "The Dilettante" quite the cleverest and most amusing feature of the "Daily". In fact I must confess that I invariably agreed with the judgments of "Ajax". But now, thank Heaven, I have been led by "Sans Souci" to see the error of my ways. He has effectively demonstrated that sincerity and rudeness are synonymous terms and most earnestly I echo the sentiment of the "Prominent Author"; "God help the Dilettante".

It is very strange that these too clever people have never had sufficient imagination to wish with Burns "to see ourselves as others see us". "Sans Souci" and I see quite clearly "What d— fools they are making of themselves". But now I have a confession to make. I am consumed with envy of my mentor.

"Be good sweet maid
 And let who will be clever."

SWIMMERS GO TO TORONTO ON THURSDAY

Swimming Meet Friday — Water Polo on Saturday

GOOD PROSPECTS

Practice Will be Held at "Y" This Afternoon

The McGill Swimming and Water Polo teams leave for Toronto on Thursday night to meet the Blue and White in the annual competitions. Although 'Varsity' at present hold the swimming championship the Red and White aquatic stars are in high hopes that they will bring back a win, for it must be remembered that Toronto pulled away to victory last year by the narrow margin of two points. With this fact in mind, the prospects are very bright for the contest on Friday night in the Hart House tank. McGill is fortunate in having several speed swimmers, who can always be trusted to set a fast pace. Such men as George Vernot and Jim Ross are sure point getters and they are being relied upon to pile up the score in favor of the Red and White. Of Captain Vernot nothing need be said for he is known throughout Canada and even in other lands as a speed artist of a very high reputation. George represented Canada at the last Olympic games and placed in both the four hundred and eight hundred meter events. Since that time he has added many another win to his already long list of victories and there is not much doubt but that Friday night will witness an additional swelling of the total.

Jim Ross is going at top speed and has managed during the past few months to cut down on his already enviable time. Ross swims with an almost perfect stroke and will prove a dangerous rival for any bearer of the Blue and White. He is a well tried and tested veteran, both in polo and swimming, and with Vernot will represent McGill in the 50 yds. and the 100 yds. speed events. Both these swimmers will also race in the 200 yds. relay but the other two members of the quartet have not been announced as yet.

In the 100 yds. breast stroke the McGill team are relying upon Laidley and Findlay, while Bethel is practically certain to swim the 50 yds. back stroke event.

The long plunge is one of the weak spots for the local aggregation for the U. of T. pin their faith in Waldron, who last year broke the Canadian record by plunging over 75 feet. He is a great asset to the Toronto team and will help to add to the score for the Queen City swimmers.

With the departure of Paul Scott, the McGill diving department suffered a severe loss and the chief burden will fall upon the shoulders of Laidley, who has established a good name for himself as an excellent diver. Each competitor will probably be called upon to do six dives, three set and three optional and these events will be some of the most interesting on the evening's programme.

On Saturday, Toronto and McGill will meet in the first of the home and home series for the water-polo championship. The local team at present holds the honour and are out to retain it for another year. Last season victory was obtained only after a hard struggle and stiff opposition is expected again, both at Toronto and here. Graham-Browne will hold down the stiff job of minding the nets and moreover, is captain of the sextet. Ross and Vernot will be found on the line-up while Laidley and Anson will be back on the defensive positions, according to the present prospects. Bill Munroe who is well known in city league circles, is barred from intercollegiate polo and it is not definitely known as yet who will replace him.

Coach Vernot has been putting his proteges through their paces during the past few weeks and will give them a closing work-out this afternoon at half-past five in the 'Y' tank. More definite statements regarding the competitors for some of the uncertain events will without doubt be available after to-day's practice.

AGGIES DEFEATED BY SCIENCE TEAM

Macdonald Drops Hockey Contest 5-3

The Science hockey team journeyed to Macdonald College yesterday where they won a hard fought game against the Aggies by the score of 5-3.

The Engineers played a fast offensive game, but the Macdonald defence was very tight, and their goal tender made many sensational stops. For Science, Findlay, Johnson and Luxton were the outstanding performers.

After the game several of the players stayed for the tea and dance which followed, being royally entertained by their guests.

The line-up was as follows:

Science. Macdonald. Goal. Nutting. Defence. Lamb. Findlay. Cook.

INTERMEDIATES DEFEATED BY NORTH BRANCH

McGill Team Loses in 24-20 Contest

FAST PLAY

Red and White Rally Came Too Late in Game

Staging a sensational rally in the last half of the game after being completely outplayed and outscored, the Intermediate B. basketball team were nevertheless unable to overcome the lead established by the North Branch Y. M. team, and were defeated by the close score of 24-20.

A small but enthusiastic "gallery" of spectators turned out to watch the game, and applauded impartially. The visitors outweighed the home team and were not slow to take advantage of this; their aggressiveness precipitating a mild tussle in the second period. The matter was, however, soon in hand and the game proceeded without any further trouble.

McGill's rally in the second half may, in some measure be attributed to the fact that they had sufficient substitutes to put in the game at any time, thereby keeping their men going at full speed throughout, while the visitor had only one, and were visibly tiring towards the close of the contest.

For North Branch, Cullen and Carr stood out prominently; the former being particularly effective in throwing penalty shots and the latter displaying fine shooting ability and general effectiveness. The combination of the winners was a treat to watch. Time and again the defence would engineer a play whereby the ball would gradually be worked up the floor. And the play invariably culminated in a shot by one of the forwards who were fed admirably throughout.

Shpritzer starred for the losers, turning in his usual consistent performance, and scoring four points for his side as well as figuring indirectly in the netting of other goals by unselfish passing which has been a feature of his work this season. Cummings gave a sterling performance at defence, the weight of the visitors not affecting him in the lead. Davis was not up to form, his shooting and penalty throws being very poor in the first half, but noticeably improving in the second half.

The winners started off with a rush, Ulley tallying shortly after the opening whistle. Carr added another for his side a moment later, following beautiful bit of combination play with Cullen. Shpritzer netted a beauty, from a most difficult angle, opening the score for McGill. North Branch was awarded a double free throw and Cullen netted both. Score N. B. Y. 6 — McGill 2.

Quackenbush pushed the ball in with one hand from a throw out, but Ulley scored once more, being uncovered directly beneath the basket. Starke and Shpritzer combined, the latter scoring. The North Branch team here gave a splendid exhibition of passing, the ball travelling rapidly from one player to another, and finally thrown in by Carr. Cullen scored two free shots; and followed up with a field goal. Shpritzer was given a rest and Connor relieved him. Smith scored for North Branch, and Cullen netted a penalty shot just as the half time whistle blew. Score: N. B. "Y" 17 — McGill 6.

Upon resuming play, North Branch scored first again, Carr scoring on a long shot. Davis netted a free throw and Starke followed by scoring a pretty goal after combining with Davis.

Play at this stage became rough, the players displaying a tendency to pay more attention to the man than to the ball, and the referee coming in for much criticism from player and spectator alike. Davis netted three consecutive free shots and Cullen two. Carr scored a field goal, but Starke netted one immediately after. Cullen scored on a free throw and Davis made two for McGill by the same method. Cummings dribbled the ball up the floor and scored. Davis added two more on a throw out. This ended the scoring. The whistle blowing shortly after with McGill trailing the winners by four points. Final score: N. B. "Y" 24 — McGill 20.

The line-up:

McGill. N.B.Y.M.C.A. Defence. Cummings. Smith. Quackenbush. Ulley.

Centre. Starke. Howard.

Home. Shpritzer. Carr. Davis. Cullen.

Subs. Connor. McDondald.

Johnson. Roach.

Forwards. Luxton. Johanson. McGill. James. Stephens. Cully.

Subs. Crapeau. Matthews. Cave. Black. Van Koughnet. Henry.

BASKETBALL TEAMS WIN TWO GAMES

R.V.C. First and Second Teams Defeat Y.W.C.A.

48-21 AND 41-22

Senior Team Prepare for Intercollegiate Matches

Last night the Convocation Hall at R. V. C. was the scene of two very creditable victories for the home basketball teams when they for the second time were victorious over the Y. W. C. A. players, the scores of the first and second team games being respectively 48-21 and 41-22.

In the first period of the Senior game the play was somewhat slow and unexciting neither side showing much brilliant or steady work, but in the second period the R. V. C. Seniors warmed to their work and playing with their usual splendid combination soon had the game all their own way. The score went up by leaps and bounds and although their opponents made splendid efforts to prevent this and themselves made several very brilliant plays, nevertheless the game ended in a victory for R. V. C. The Second Team game was more one-sided. R. V. C. maintaining a considerable lead all through, and also ended in a victory for the home team.

SENIOR GAME.

First Period.

At the toss-up the Y. W. C. A. centres secured the ball, carried it down the floor to their forwards, and the first score was made. The ball was returned to centre and in a moment Miss Leggett scored for R. V. C. This basket was quickly followed by two others for each side making the score 6-6.

There followed a great deal of bunched and the Y. W. scored a point on an R. V. C. foul. The R. V. C. centres at this time did some particularly fine combination work and enabled Miss Spier to score three time and Miss Leggett twice. Miss Field and Miss McCaw, the Y. W. forwards work's hard and shooting well brought the score up to (14-15). For some time there was little scores. Miss Slack, on the R. V. C. defense made several splendid saves and passed out to the centres Miss Duntun and Miss Russell who took the ball down and enabled the R. V. C. forwards to score two more baskets. Just before time was called Miss McCaw scored again for the Y. W. and the period ended in a score of (20-17) in favour of R. V. C.

Second Period.

During this period the ball was almost continually at the R. V. C. end and the good work of the R. V. C. centres prevailed their opponents from getting hold of the ball for any length of time. At the beginning of the period Miss Leggett scored twice. The Y. W. centres made heroic attempts to carry the ball to their own end but nevertheless the R. V. C. score mounted very quickly to 38-17. Miss McCaw, the Y. W. forward put a splendid long shot into the basket, but on the toss-up the R. V. C. centres took the ball to their forwards who scored three times. A moment later Miss Field of the Y. W. scored the last point for her side making a splendid shot from the centre line. The ball was carried to the R. V. C. end and both Miss Leggett and Miss Spier made their shots. In the last half minute the ball travelled to the Y. W. end, was intercepted and returned by the R. V. C. guards Miss Slack and Miss Duntun and carried up to Miss Spier who scored the last point for R. V. C. and made the final score 48-21 in favour of the college team.

JUNIOR GAME.

The period opened with a pass from the R. V. C. centre Miss Pick, to Miss Pennington who with a quick pass sent the ball to Miss Murray who scored. This was quickly followed by another goal for the R. V. C. by Miss Russell. The R. V. C. centres did extremely good work, keeping the ball down at the R. V. C. goal where the forwards showed good form in both combination and shooting, and the score rapidly went up, and the period closed with 24-6 for the R. V. C. The guards Miss Shlakman and Miss McWatters did excellent work and were no doubt responsible for the low score of the Y. W. team.

The second period also opened with a basket by Miss Murray. The Y. W. team however fought harder in this period. The play became a little wild and a number of fouls were made on both sides. Both teams however pulled themselves together and the score went up on both sides. When time off was called for one of the Y. W. team the score stood at 36-1 for R. V. C. The Misses Pick, Russel and Murray by excellent combination put in two more baskets and when the whistle blew, the result was 41-22 for the Red and White Team.

MARITIME SKATING PARTY TONIGHT

The men from the maritime provinces will gather at the Coliseum Rink this evening at 8.00 o'clock for a skating party after which they will wend their way to the Edinburgh at 10.00 o'clock where there will be dancing and refreshments.

From all appearance a large turn-out is assured and those who do not generally slide over the ice are planning to join their friends later at the Edinburgh where the hall has been reserved for the Club.

CLOSE SCORE WHEN MED. '26 BEATS '25

Play-off for Championship This Week

In the play-off of the semi-final in the interclass indoor baseball league between Med. '26 and Med. '25 last evening, the latter team came out on the long end of the 6 to 5 score, after a very close and exciting game.

The pitching by Henry for the winners, and Philpott, for the losers, was excellent. Only two men were walked in the course of the game, and there were few clean hits. One hit went for more than one base, and that was at two batters by Henry, which he gets. Several sensational catches and stops by Grassick were features of the game. The fielding of both teams was practically errorless, although Med. '26 made a couple of overthrows.

In the first inning, Med. '26 went to bat first, and brought in one run; Med. '25 managed to bring in two, and added one more in the second, while they held '26 scoreless. In the first half of the third, Med. '26 scored one, and in the fourth they added another which tied the score. By a rally, '25 sent three men across the plate, giving them a three run lead. After this they failed to score for the rest of the game. Med. '26 succeeded in adding two more runs in the fifth inning, and this ended the scoring for the game. Things looked as though the score would be tied up in the first half of the seventh, when Med. '26 had a man on third with two men out, but the batter struck out, and their hopes went glimmering.

Med. '25 will meet Arts '26 in the final later in the week.

The line-up was as follows:—

Med. '25. Med. '26. Catcher. Peacock. Pitcher. Philpott. First Base. Scott. Second Base. Puddicombe. Third Base. Dreger. Left Short Stop. Miller. Right Short Stop. Grassick. Tinkess. Fullerton. Senecal. Nathanson. Umpire—McCullough.

Score by innings: Med. '26 . . . 1 0 1 1 2 0 0—5. Med. '25 2 1 0 3 0 0 x—6

DENTS VICTORS IN ALL STAR-HOCKEY

Arts Team Lose Their First Game 2-1.

Dentistry's All-Star hockey team turned out in force last night and defeated the Arts representatives by the score of 2-1 in a game which was close, fast and free from rough play.

The success of the Dents was due in large measure to the goal tending of Longley, who, although bombarded continually, managed to turn all but one away, that one being a rebound which Moore succeeded in batting in. The combination of the Arts team was far superior to that of their opponents, who relied on individual rushes and long shots from outside the defence. Substitutes were used freely, which kept the game at a fast clip throughout.

For the winners, Moore and Johnson were the outstanding performers, while Melanson in the nets saved well, but luck was not with him on the two tillicies. Legge of Dentistry, was the most aggressive man on the ice, and was responsible for one of his side's points.

At half time the score stood 1 to 0 in favour of Arts, but in the second stanza, although they were being pressed by their opponents, Dentistry twice pushed the rubber between the posts, one shot from Richardson slipping through Melanson's skates.

Brittain handled the game in a satisfactory manner.

The line-up was as follows:—

Arts. Goal. J. Longley. H. Melanson. Defence. P. Charland. J. Hutchison. H. Grant. B. Moore. Forwards. F. Richardson. D. Johnson. D. Cool. G. Craik. O. D. Legge. R. Harris. Subs. D. MacCrae. R. Hall. G. Orr. W. B. Allan. Whalen. D. MacDonald.

A.K.K. ARE DOWNED BY PHI KAPPA PI

Fast Game Results in 2-1 Score

After one of the most exciting games staged in a local arena this year Phi Kappa Pi downed the gallant sons of Alpha Kappa Kappa and emerged on the long end of the 2 to 1 score. From going to gong there was continuous action, and the two thousand spectators who dared the zero weather were kept on their toes all the game.

There was nothing to pick between the teams, each and every man being a star and scintillating throughout the whole two periods. The goalers stopped many difficult shots, and both teams showed the results of careful training.

Play started off with terrific speed, and substitutes were called in often to replace the worn heroes, who found it difficult to last under the awful pace. The first period ended one all, and it took 18 minutes of the second period before the deciding goal was notched which won the game.

The line-up:

A.K.K. Phi Kappa Pi. Goal. Brown. McCall. Defence. Harding. Laishley. Peacock. Grant. Centre. Parlow. Cope. Right Wing. Hill. Pratt. Left Wing. McIntosh. Menzies. Spares. E. Day. McCrae. Simpson. Reed.

SUCCESSFUL SLEIGH DRIVE HELD BY ARTS

Combining a sleigh drive, a feed and a dance, the members of the Arts Sophomore year spent a thoroughly enjoyable time last night.

The weather was fine and the girls from the R.V.C. showed their willingness to aid in throwing the weakest bodied members of the party off the sleigh.

After the drive the party indulged in a "regular feed." The food was all that greatest gourmet present could ask for. In addition to quality, quantity was a ruling factor and everyone who left the table declared himself highly satisfied with that part of the programme.

From the conclusion of supper till midnight the party tried out the R.V.C. planks as a dancing floor. The party broke up shortly after the witching hour, after a thoroughly enjoyable evening had

It Pays to Advertise

THAT'S a recognized fact today. But bear this in mind: the only reason it pays to advertise is that millions of thrifty folks find it a paying proposition to be guided by the advertisements. If you will read advertising consistently for a while you'll readily agree that this statement is true.

It will pay you in money saved. Real bargains are offered frequently in the advertisements that appear in this paper. Watch for them. Take advantage of them.

It will pay you in time saved. It tells you exactly when and where to go for what you want to buy. You don't have to waste time and effort "shopping around." If your time is worth money, advertising will pay you.

It will pay you in added satisfaction. Every time a merchant or manufacturer advertises he obligates himself to sell you goods that are as advertised. Read the advertisements and be sure you get your money's worth.

Reading the advertisements is a plain every-day business proposition. It is a duty you owe yourself and your pocketbook.

PROFESSORS HEARD TWO NOTED MEN

Sir Henry Newbolt and Dr.
Herbert Gray

SEVENTY PRESENT

Strathcona Hall Scene of Successful Luncheon

Some seventy professors and their wives with other members of the staff of the university met at luncheon at Strathcona Hall yesterday to hear Dr. Herbert Gray interpret what a Student Movement can mean to a country.

A very pleasant surprise was the presence of Sir Henry Newbolt, who spoke for a short time at the conclusion of Dr. Gray's address.

J. G. Mackay introduced the speaker. "I find it is a good custom for a man to talk about what he knows and for that reason — if there were no other — I find it a great joy to speak to you of the Student Christian Movement, for I feel that I do know that," he began, and Dr. Gray takes his knowledge from twenty-five years in the British Student Movement.

"The Faith of our fathers" is unshaken still," he continued, "but their thought forms and theology are no equipment for men in a modern age. And the question arises. How are we to change the thought forms and yet retain what was and is vital in the old religion. — God has helped the British Student Movement to do that in a very wonderful way.

Of course the Student Movement could do that when other organizations were unable because it was free from hindering tradition as well as the sinister influence of moneyed men.

It was essential that the Student Movement should trust the reverent scholar. It could not be a Student Movement and do otherwise. It had to decide very early first, its attitude to biblical criticism and to realize the value of the bible when it is rightly used.

Secondly, its attitude to social service and life — as much as to foreign missions.

Thirdly, it realized very early that Christianity is international in character. That it claims the loyalty of students not to Great Britain, the United States or race, but for a kingdom of God that is world wide.

I know of nothing of which I am more proud than to be a member of the World Student Christian Federation for it was the one international organization to survive the war, and when the war was over it saw that it was its first duty to feed the starving, be they enemy or not. The work of Student Relief is the greatest breathing influence in "European Affairs".

Of the broader outlook of the movement he said — "It is impossible for students to be provincial in outlook and be real members — Christians of many kinds come with all their prejudices but they soon drop them. And it has been Presbyterian and more Christian and even High Church Anglicans become less sharp."

Of the problem of church Union "It can never be brought about by what I call 'Ecclesiastical arpeggio' — by merely working on Concordats and clever statements that have different meanings for different people". — It isn't an organic unity that is wanted really."

"Knowing the Student Movement as I do in Great Britain I can see what a future it may have in Canada — because what the Student mind needs can be met by a strong Student Movement."

The Student is a charmingly delightful person but he is a peculiar creature. He is essentially critical of his elders and after much experience even college presidents have joined that you can't "put anything over" on him. Because of that the Student Movement is entirely student governed. That is not to say it is not indebted to older people but its elders have to wait until they are asked to help. And I think it is a God-given instinct in students that they will not submit to be managed, they refuse to be hustled."

Sir Henry Newbolt stated that he knew practically nothing of the Student Movement but one or two things had occurred to him while Dr. Gray had been speaking.

"The last two generations have been difficult ones," he said, "when faiths have been shattered and dogmas have been questioned. As a result there are a large number of people in Great Britain in the class which religious people refer to as 'indifferent'. They live by the principle of 'Live and let Live' but they are not willing to commit themselves to be identified with any denomination."

"One way that will cause these people to be followers is the Dr. Gray's way," he said. "That is the process of regarding human life as something to be lived, a pilgrimage. On this pilgrimage there is need of a chart. The way that has been offered to the world is a great example. But this example has been obscured by dogmatic pronouncements of many theologians. Sects have defended at the cost of their own or their enemies lives."

He then referred to Dr. Gray's book "As Tommy Sees Us", which was written from war experience, and he proceeded to develop an appreciation in

CONSERVATIVE PARTY.

Alas, where is morality in our public life? The late Prime Minister is reported in yesterday's press to have fled the country for Helloland. That his resignation was already in the hands of the Governor-General has been common knowledge since the Conservative exposé of the administration in the House of Commons, but the reason is only beginning to be hinted at, and has so far failed to reach the ears of the people.

The startling news of the resignation of the Premier and other members of the Cabinet said to be implicated in a scandal of high society has stirred the conscience of the electorate. From the horrified expression noted on the faces of several late Cabinet Ministers yesterday morning, the fate of the unholy coalition seems sealed; a coalition finding its birth in such circumstances seems destined to find short shrift from the enraged members of Parliament when that body assembles on Thursday to face the men men who have so duped them.

The Conservative Party has received offers of whole-hearted support glowing terms. 'He had never been more struck in a long life of intensive reading by anything' so stimulating as the last chapter of this book. It is a straightforward non-narrative picture of Christ. And anyone willing to see Him through the eyes of the author would, he would not say, "forget the differences in sects, but these would sink into their true proportions."

The lucid and masterly expression of a tribute by one so eminently capable of judging made a deep impression on his hearers.

"DARK HOUSE"

The performance at His Majesty's this week is one that has been frequently seen at the local playhouse. Montreal is no stranger to "Dark House" a collaboration of the management and the theatre-going public.

The bill this week is in many respects unique. While the material is not original, it nevertheless succeeded in holding the interest of the audience as even Beerbolm Tree in his greatest moments was unable to do. Not a sound could be heard from those present during the entire evening, or for that matter the entire week. Programs rustled not. Whispers, sneezes, coughs, and the din which is rapidly becoming part and parcel of the present day theatre, all these were still-born.

While those present were not particularly responsive or appreciative this was atoned for by a complete absence of the gasps and gurgles, remarks and comments that have marred so many of our finest visiting productions.

What was even more remarkable was that there were none so thoughtless as to enter during the first act and none were there not sufficiently courteous to remain seated till the last.

The cast was well selected and their work was characterized by a fine restraint. The melodramatic over-acting which threatens to win modern stage technique was entirely absent. No fault could be found with the presentation on this score.

But although the Montreal public may entertain a sincere admiration for talent and art of so high an order it should be remembered that even the most interesting spectacle may lose its appeal through undue repetition and the managements of our local theatres should strive to present attraction that possess the charm of novelty.

Which reminds us that the show for next week is to be the Dumbells. — S.D.P.

and nominated 56 of their members to run for parliament. At this time the party was divided into two sections, namely, Labor-Liberals and purely Laborites.

As a direct result of the Great War Lloyd George came into power in 1916, at the head of a Coalition party, and having a War Cabinet. Then in 1922 the Coalitionists were defeated, and the Conservatives came into power with a majority over all the other parties.

Moore then went on to trace the history of the political parties in the United States. At the time when the Americans got their own independence there were two political parties in existence, namely, the Federalists and the anti-Federalists. From this time on we note that there were only two parties. At times a third party would appear, but it would soon drop out of existence.

In 1885 the woman suffrage party was formed, but they were unsuccessful in politics. Then in 1888 the labor party was formed, but they, too, soon dropped out of existence. Today, in the United States, there are only two parties, namely, the Democrats and Republicans.

The study of the history of the French political parties proves to be very interesting. With the adoption of the constitution in 1785, the political parties started in immediately, the two parties at this time being Republicans and Monarchists. The Socialists shortly afterwards appeared upon the political scene. From this time on we note that the life of the Cabinets was very short. A "shuffling of the Cabinet Ministers" frequently took place.

The first Parliament of Australia met in 1900, and there immediately appeared upon the scene, the Labor party, which proved to be very powerful. There were frequent changes of government, and in 1915, the National party appeared. It stayed in power until very recently.

In Canada we find that in the year 1834 there were seven party groups, namely, those led by Brown, Macdonald, Hinks, MacNab, Gault, the Reformers, and the Parti Rouge. Macdonald succeeded in 1834 in uniting some of the party groups, and the two party system prevailed. Then in 1917 the Progressive party was formed and in our recent elections they were very prominent, winning a great many seats.

Heron, who discussed the merits of from members in the House hitherto in entire agreement with the policies of one or other of the disgraced parties. The wavering ranks of the Coalition have broken, and only a patch-work government and a flood of press comment, supports an otherwise fallen ministry. In the popular mind there is no doubt that when the House meets on Thursday the Government, now composed of jarring interests and discordant groups, will, before the assault of the virile Conservative Party, crumble to dust.

A caucus of the Party pregnant with possibilities will be held at 5 p.m. in the Lounge Room of the Union today. Every man is expected to attend whose wish it is that the fate of the Government next Thursday be downfall.

the two-party system, and the multiple form of parties, said that in the 18th century, those who were against the government were looked upon as a body of intriguers. Opposition in those days nearly always led to bloodshed.

Political parties have become a potent force in all democratic countries. He said that there were several kinds of parties, namely, national, local, socialist and communist parties.

Many of the theorists are against the party system, because, they say, that it places the government in the hands of a majority, even though that majority might be very slim. Moreover, some of the best men of the country are not given ministerial positions, due to the fact that they belong to the opposition party. The two-party system tends to subordinate national interests to party needs. And that the opposition party are often in an artificial disagreement with the party in power under this form of government.

The party system is the only thing which makes the democratic form of government workable. In a two-party system, the government can pass bills for the good of the country, but under the multiple system, the party in power has to placate all the parties to keep itself in power. A two-party system simplifies politics, and the general public can follow the trend of events more easily. It also helped to ease the transition into democracy. As an example of this we can take the case of England.

The existence of the multiple system is that no one party express the majority opinion of the people. We also note the illegitimate means used by the party in power to retain their control over the other parties. The great disadvantage of this multiple system is that it results in too many speakers in the House. The two-party system would be able to do away with this disadvantage.

Those in favor of the multiple system claim that with only two parties, the party in power is only looking after its own interests, and not after those of the people. But with a multiplication of parties, the party in power has always to "keep on the march," and look after the peoples' interests.

In a two-party system individual freedom is practically unknown, but this is not the case in the multiple system, for the independent could always ally himself with some party whose ideals were similar to his own.

Some of the best thinkers of the country are of the opinion that the tendency to-day is to augment the parties into two political parties. The speaker disagreed with this and claimed that the tendency to-day is in favor of the multiple party system.

After the papers had been read, the members of the club engaged in a very interesting discussion in which some of the embryonic statesmen gave their views on the ideal form of government.

A little Norwegian boy wrote an essay on the frog as follows:—

The frog is a wonderful bird. When he sit he stand almost. When he hop he fly almost. He ain't got no tail hardly either. When he sit, he sit on what he ain't got almost.

If these antagonisms be laid aside and the policy of universal brotherhood be adopted, then the roots of war, social unrest and the other malignant points in the make up of the world will be permanently destroyed.

That all the different races of the world receive equal treatment does not mean that the African Blacks for instance, are at present in a position making them deserving of equal treatment, but it does mean that it is the duty of the world to educate these Africans so that the next generations be in a position to appreciate Western Civilization. This is the only thing that will ultimately satisfy the truly Christian mind.

Dr. Gray concluded his interesting and instructive talk by mentioning the three points that he intended dealing with in today's lecture, evil, the terms of admission to the army of the Lord and Good Fellowship.
